This agenda item respectfully requests the approval to create a Deputy Director-Sewer District position within the Chemung County Sewer Districts. We will be abolishing the vacant Senior Wastewater Engineer (AR) position within the Sewer Districts and the Deputy Director will replace this title. This position will assist the Executive Director with coordinating tasks, managing employees, and overseeing construction and operation of the treatment facilities and collection systems. RE: Public Advocate’s Office caseloads

Dear County Executive Moss:

I am writing concerning my office’s compliance with caseload standards promulgated by the state Office of Indigent Legal Services (“ILS”). Over the last four years, the Public Advocate has been assigned to an annual average of: 43.25 Violent felonies; 91.75 Other felonies; 348.5 misdemeanors/violations; and 35.5 post-disposition. According to the attached ILS caseload standards, such a caseload should be supported by 3.13 full-time equivalent attorneys. Our current staffing only provides approximately 1.7 full-time equivalent attorneys devoted to criminal work. ILS has offered grant money to hire additional staff to allow us to meet the caseload standards. Funding for a full-time Assistant Public Advocate is available through the ILS Statewide Expansion of Hurrell-Harring grant (Chemung County Res. 19-563).

The grant money will reimburse the county for salary, fringe, and all other expenses related to the position.

If you have any questions or concerns, please do not hesitate to contact me.

Sincerely,

John P. Brennan, Esq.
jbrennan@chemungcountyny.gov

These caseload standards assume that there is a total of 1,875 working hours per attorney per year. For institutional defenders, these standards shall apply as an average per staff attorney within the office, so that the leader of the office may assign individual attorneys to greater or fewer numbers of cases in order to promote the most effective representation of clients.

For assigned counsel programs, these standards state that the average number of hours per case may not go below specified minimum levels; recognizing that individual cases may take more or less time. In other words, assigned private counsel are expected to devote, on average, at least the minimum number of hours set forth by these standards per case.

In developing these standards, we have carefully examined the resources that will be necessary to assure their effectiveness. This examination has included a careful review of caseloads, the types of cases attorneys handle, the qualifications and experience of attorneys, local conditions such as distances between courts and other institutions, necessary staffing, supervision, office \(^{45}\) "Violent felonies" are defined as: any violent felony as defined in Penal Law § 70.02 and any class A felony except those defined in Article 220 of the Penal Law (Class A “drug” felonies).

We include non-drug class A felonies because they constitute some of the most serious offenses which can result in life imprisonment (P.L. § 70.00(2)(a)), require incarceration after sentence (P.L. § 60.05), have pre-indictment plea bargaining limitations (Crim. Proc. L. §§ 180.50; 180.70), limit post-indictment plea agreements to no lower than a C violent felony (C.P.L. § 220.10(5)(d)(i)), and any "attempt" is classified - at a minimum - as a B violent felony (P.L. §§ 110.05; 70.02). We exclude class A drug felonies because recent changes to the sentencing laws pursuant to the 2009 Rockefeller Drug Reform created sentencing structures more akin to non-violent felonies in most cases (see P.L. § 70.71). This is also consistent with the New York State Division of Criminal Justice Services (DCJS) definition of “Violent felony.” See DCJS, New York State Violent Felony Processing, 2015 Annual Report (2016) at 1, available at http://www.criminaljustice.ny.gov/crimnet/oisr/nys-violent-felony-offense-processing-2015.pdf (A list of the included offenses can be found in Appendix A of the DCJS report).

Resolution #:

Slip Type: OTHER

SEQRA status

State Mandated False

Explain action needed or Position requested (justification):

Amending the Public Officers Law for Assistant District Attorneys, Assistant County Attorneys, Public Defender, Assistant Public Defenders, Public Advocate, and Assistant Public Advocates to reside in the County in which they work. Because the County is having difficulty finding qualified candidates among the existing pool of available applicants, the County Executive has requested an expansion of available attorneys by amending the Public Officers Law. Similar exemptions have been provided by the State for the Yates County, Schuyler County, and for many others. In order to assure an adequate pool of qualified applicants for the attorneys' positions within Chemung County, the County Executive is recommending adoption of this Local Law superseding the State of New York Public Officers Law Section 3, special law, as to the residency requirements of certain public officers in Chemung County.

Too Few Lawyers? Access to Justice in Rural Communities

January 11, 2019

With growing populations downstate, declining populations upstate and aging populations statewide, our communities—whether rural, metropolitan or suburban—are facing evolving obstacles to ensuring access to justice for all New Yorkers. During my first year as Presiding Justice of the Third Department many attorneys have shared their concerns about the availability of legal services, and particularly in the rural regions, as many are located within my Department. The geographical and demographic circumstances in rural settings pose unique challenges, and these are issues that our court system, legal service providers, and other stakeholders are actively working to address.

Recognizing that many of my readers will be in urban areas, let me begin by stating that there are multiple opportunities for a successful legal career outside of urban settings; and there is great joy to be found in a quiet small town or rural setting. Our upstate communities are not particularly diverse, but neither are they hostile to diversity. The people residing in our towns, villages, and farm communities are much more likely to be broad-minded and big hearted than the opposite; I share this observation based upon decades of personal experience. So, to any readers wondering whether their quality of life may be enhanced by a closer connection to nature, let me clearly say that mine has been, and more than that, that I have never lacked opportunities for personal and career growth and service while living in rural upstate communities. These are communities filled to overflowing with history and beauty—and populated by good neighbors.

However, attorneys in rural areas are scarce. Although New York state has one of the highest rates of attorneys per capita in the nation, most areas outside of New York City have far fewer lawyers. Many rural counties have only one or two attorneys per 1,000 residents. The dearth of legal help can make it difficult for people to obtain the routine legal advice necessary to successfully plan for the future, manage their businesses and organize their lives. It also complicates the critical work of securing basic life necessities for those living in poverty. Rural residents are often left to handle their legal problems without the assistance of an attorney.

In response to these challenges, leaders in our court system and the legal profession are working to get more New Yorkers the legal help they need to keep our communities thriving. For example, the Rural Law Center of New York is providing legal services for low-income, rural New Yorkers throughout the state. The Rural Law Center has also partnered with the New York State Bar Association’s Committee on Courts of Appellate Jurisdiction to support the Pro Bono Appeals Program, which operates in the Third and Fourth Departments of the Appellate Division. Another project, the Rural Law Initiative, is a pilot program created by Albany Law School’s Government Law Center, with partial funding provided by a grant from the U.S. Department of Agriculture. The Initiative is intended to provide non-representative legal advice to farms, small businesses and entrepreneurs in rural areas, on matters including business formation, land use, financial literacy, regulatory matters and more. This program also connects participants to attorneys who can provide more comprehensive representation, and refers non-eligible individuals to other sources of free or low-cost legal assistance. The Legal Aid Society of Northeastern New York and Pro Bono Net have also collaborated on an innovative program called “Closing the Gap.” This initiative uses technology to connect low-income rural litigants with remote volunteer attorneys in the Capital District who provide limited scope representation. These programs are some examples of creative problem solving aimed at tackling the unique barriers to providing sufficient legal representation in rural communities. (For a more thorough and extensive treatment of this topic, see the recent issue of the NYSBA Government, Law and Policy Journal devoted to Rural Justice in New York State.)

Under the leadership of Chief Judge Janet DiFiore, Chief Administrative Judge Larry Marks, my colleagues on the Administrative Board, and leaders in our judiciary statewide, the Court System has also taken steps to address the legal needs of our rural populations. As mentioned above, one initiative that has gained support is the use of limited scope representation, or unbundling. In 2016, the Court System issued a policy statement encouraging this practice. The process of evaluating public comment upon proposed guidelines designed to clarify the ethical rules governing limited scope representation, and forms to facilitate the practice, is currently underway. In addition, the New York State Access to Justice Program has partnered with the New York State Bar Association to hold trainings relative to the use of limited scope representation. This form of representation has been used in various settings, particularly including rural areas, and through pro bono initiatives such as the “Closing the Gap” program discussed above. Although it would be ideal for our state’s citizens to have access to full representation for all of their legal matters, the provision of limited scope legal services can be a useful tool in assisting individuals who might otherwise appear pro se in potentially life-changing legal proceedings.

In October, the New York State Permanent Commission on Access to Justice, chaired by Helaine M. Barnett, hosted a Statewide Stakeholders Meeting in Albany. More than 140 individuals—including judges, legal services providers, practitioners, community leaders and public officials—came together to discuss strategies that have been successful and to formulate action plans for local initiatives. Information was shared as to the efforts underway in various communities, and participants then broke out into groups to focus on applying that knowledge to both rural and metropolitan settings. Stakeholders from judicial districts throughout upstate New York have since formed working groups in specific focus areas, such as modest means representation and using technology to address the justice gap, and local action plans are being formulated.

As court administrators, we are also working to address specific problems as we identify them. For example, in the Third Department, we have encountered a shrinking pool of lawyers who are willing and able to serve as attorneys for the child (AFCs) in some areas. For the purpose of supplementing our existing AFC panels, and to thus ensure that appropriate representation is available for young people in those communities, we have recently created additional AFC contract offices. We are currently establishing new AFC contract offices in Broome and Chenango counties, in addition to those which already exist in Clinton, Essex, Franklin, Fulton, Otsego and Schuyler counties.

In a state as large and diverse as ours, there are few one-size-fits-all solutions to the challenges we face. Although impressive progress has been made, there is a great deal of work ahead. We are fortunate, however, to benefit from a wealth of expertise, innovation and commitment among members of our judiciary and legal profession. By collaborating with and supporting the efforts of practitioners, legal service providers and other stakeholders, engaging in long-term strategic planning, and remaining flexible and creative in responding to issues that arise, we will continue to improve access to justice and legal representation for all New Yorkers.

RE: Amendment of Public Officers’ Law

Dear County Executive Moss,
David Manchester, Chairman, and Members of the Legislature:

Presently, Section 3 of New York State Public Officers Law requires public officers (which includes assistant district attorneys) to be residents of the political subdivision in which such officers will carry out their official job functions. Unfortunately, the pool of available lawyers in Chemung County to serve as assistant district attorneys is very small. One need only read the attached article written two years ago by the Honorable Elizabeth A. Garry, the Presiding Justice of the Appellate Division, Third Department, to be informed about the dearth of lawyers in Upstate New York. Compounding the problem for us is the fact that many young lawyers are eschewing employment opportunities in prosecutors’ offices nationwide due to the present political climate.

As an example of the impact on my office, I cite the fact that we have had two vacancies for assistant district attorneys (one since September of 2021, and the second since January of 2022) which drew interest from only two applicants. One, a recent graduate from Syracuse Law School, opted to accept a position with the Suffolk County District Attorney’s office. The second applicant intends to move upstate, but unfortunately may reside outside Chemung County due to her husband's employment in Corning. Therefore, we are requesting the passage of a local law waiving the residency requirement of New York State Public Officers Law § 3 as it pertains to assistant district attorneys. Other counties that have already adopted similar legislation include: Livingston, Yates, Madison, Schuyler, Montgomery, Fulton, Essex, Wyoming, Sullivan, Oswego, Tioga, Tompkins, and Steuben. Passage will expand the number of attorneys available to work as assistant district attorneys in Chemung County.

Thank you for your kind consideration of this request.

Very Truly Yours,

Weeden A. Wetmore
